Ondo State governor, Dr Olusegun Mimiko, has assured the people of the state on the completion of the intra-city road projects in Ondo, Akure and Owo towns.

The governor, who lamented the slow pace of work on some of the projects, however, asked residents of the state to bear the situation with him, because the development, which is also giving him serious concern, was being addressed.

According to the governor, who spoke at the inauguration of a multi-million naira health centre donated by the Osemawe of Ondo kingdom, Oba Victor Kiladejo for the Wesley University of Science and Technology, the projects were part of the efforts of the state government at improving infrastructure in the state.

Mimiko commended residents of the state for their understanding despite the slow pace of his roads projects being handled by some famous construction firms, describing the development as regrettable.

According to him, “I thank the good people of Ondo for their understanding and co-operation in the area of the slow execution of our road projects by the contractors. We have fashioned out a programme to fast-track the projects during this dry season.”
